The board of town trustees met Monday, allowed claims aggregating $200, condemned some dilapidated plank walks, declared the stable on the Stewart property on Salem street a nuisance, and adjourned. The removal of old stable from the face of the town is a piece of work that is commendable. There is a score or more of similar warts on the person of the town and they need a free application of the board's surgical knife. Gentlemen, go in on this business and the Press will do your fighting—on paper.

Judge A. M. Hearin and Fred Robertson, who are beginning to get a little hungry and thirsty since supplying the inner man at Owensboro, are arranging to take in the re union at Uniontown next Wednesday. The managers will please take notice and prepare for them—they are no ordinary men. From the fall of Ft. Donaldson to the Owensboro re union last week, they were never fully convinced that there was enough grub and drink in Kentucky to supply their wants. Now that they have had a taste, they propose to make a charge, horse, foot and dragon on the commissary department at Uniontown next week, and the managers had better sleep on their arms or they will be routed.

THE DECISION

OF THE COURT OF APPEALS IN THE LOCAL OPTION INJUNCTION SUIT.

Nothing has been in our courts this year that attracted as much attention in Marion and vicinity as the Local Option injunction suit, which began in the County Court, going from there to the Circuit Court, and then to the highest court in the State. The plaintiffs claimed that their was fraud in the election, and that the County Judge, the County Clerk and the Sheriff, who constitute the board to compare and put to record the vote, failed to ascertain whether the votes were legal or illegal, and as there was illegal votes the courts were asked to compel the board to recount and investigate the vote, at the same time suing out an injunction, which, in effect, annulled the local option law until the courts passed upon the matter. The county court decided that it had no authority to reassemble the board, and the Circuit Court decided that the action of the election board was final. The attorney prepared briefs and submitted the case to the Court of Appeals. The defendants in the case made no answer to the charges of fraud in the election, but plead that the courts had no authority to compel a recount of the vote.

The following is the decision of the Court of Appeals as rendered by Judge Pryor: "In this case the Appellants had no opportunity of making any question as to the legality of the votes cast, if their statements are true; all they ask is that the board ascertain the illegal votes, if any—that it is alleged they did not do. The board alone must determine the question and not the chancellor, and I am not to be understood as adjudging that the chancellor can investigate the validity of the election; it is with the board and when they hear and determine the question, their judgment is conclusive. The injunction is hereby reinstated."

A Lively Race.

Wednesday John Burton, a young man of the Stone neighborhood came town. Deputy Sheriff Lynd served a writ of arrest upon him and left his willing prisoner in the Sheriff's office in charge of Constable Jim Debus. Some one stepped into the office and while the Constable's attention was diverted to the caller, Burton jumped out the window and went away like the wind. When the officer discovered that his man was gone, he rolled up his breeches, unbuttoned his collar, put on a full head of steam and gave chase. Jim, however, is only a quarter horse and he never got sight of the young thoroughbred after he turned the corner.

A General Fight.

Sunday night a general fist-cuff fight occurred at Blowing Springs church, in which Thor, Woody, Dick Sharp, Ben King, Nathan Black and Wm. Graves participated. Sharp and King were old enemies, and the difficulty originated between the two about the old affairs, and the other boys were drawn in. No serious damages were done. King cut Graves across the abdomen, inflicting an inconsiderate wound. Some of the other boys were knocked down, but when the smoke of battle cleared away, all the belligerents were on their feet and able to leave the field of action.

Postponed.

The examining trial of Mrs. Reynolds, charged with burning Edmondson's house, was postponed until the first Monday in October. Messrs Reynolds, her father-in-law, and J. A. Crowell went on the bond which was fixed at $250. The case was continued in order to get some important witnesses who live in Webster county.

Dr. A. B. Weaver left Friday for Louisville, where he will locate and practice dentistry. Besides being a first class dentist the doctor is a sociable, pleasant gentleman and leaves many warm friends in Marion.

If you want good whisky for medicinal purposes, give us a call. We are still selling by the quart. F. E. Robertson & Co.

Furniture of all kinds, doors, sash and glass cheap at Schwab's.

In Trouble.

The court house presented some lively scenes Wednesday. Several parties from the Stone neighborhood were attending a trial, for breach of the peace, of some boys. Deputy Sheriff Frank Loyd was leisurely looking on during the trial. When the court finished the business in hand, he arrested three of the boys upon warrants charging them with detaining women against their will. The parties arrested were John and James Burton and Wm. King. John escaped, James executed a $500 bond for his appearance at circuit court. King was guarded by a special bailiff last night, and his friends will be in to-day to make his bond. The three boys were indicted by the last term of circuit court. The women whom they are accused of mistreating live in Webster county, and it is said that their friends are in very bad humor and may resort to extreme measures before court comes on. This, however, is probably all talk and will amount to nothing. If the charges prove true the boys are certainly in a serious predicament.

A Mistake.

Our friend W. L. (Bud) Bigham is, as everybody knows, a good natured man, ready to oblige his friends whenever occasion offers. A day or two since his hired man, John Crow, col., called upon Bud to write a letter for him, proposing marriage to Mary Woods, a damsel whose skin has never played truant to that of her forefathers who came over from Africa. If there is anything that our friend can do better than other things it is writing that character of letters the occasion referred to demanded. The letter was written and the entire vocabulary of endearing terms was called into service. It was a hummer, and one calculated to find its way to the heart of the fair Mary. It was in due time delivered, and with palpitating heart Mary carried it to Mr. A. Schwab, in whose family she presided as chief assistant in the culinary department. It was all right until the signature was reached and there Mary was puzzled, for Bud had, through mistake, signed his own name instead of that of John Crow. Explanations were asked and obtained, and John got the bride notwithstanding Bud's passionate appeal. Mention this to Bud and he will smile, and offer you a "smile" too.

Accidents at Salem.

Mr. Henry Hodge, brother of Mr. S. Hodge, of this place, was thrown from a wagon while going at a rapid rate Saturday, and was severely injured.

A team that Alex Jolly was driving became frightened and ran away throwing the driver to the ground and breaking his leg just above the ankle and splitting the bone, besides knocking the ankle out of joint. He suffers severely and may be considered in a dangerous condition.

Mr. A. McCormick went to Elizabethtown, Ill., Monday. He will be gone a couple of weeks.

Mrs. Lou Coffield, of Birdsville, is the guest of her mother, Mrs. Mary Barnes of this place.

Mrs. Lizzie Baker, and her son Everett, of Harrisburg, Ills., are visiting friends in Marion.

Messrs T. J. Cameron and J. N. Woods leave to-night for Louisville to buy goods.

Hon. E. Dudley Walker, a prominent lawyer of Ohio county, was in town Tuesday.

Notice.

The Crittenden county F and L U will meet at Sisco's Chapel Thursday, Oct. 1st, 1891. All the Unions in the county are requested to send a full delegation as there will be some very important business to attend to.

IN DEFENSE OF THE R. R.

AGENT BRAWNER MAKES A STATEMENT ABOUT THE FREIGHT RATES.

THE N. N. & M. V. NOT TO BLAME.

EDITOR PRESS:—In the last issue of the Press appeared an article calculated to work great injury to the Railroad Co., and which, in all fairness, you should not have published until the matter had been investigated. The town of Marion has been greatly favored in matter of rates as comparison with rates to other inland points will prove.

Rate from Cincinnati to Marion has been and still is from 45 to 21 cents per 100 lbs. From and to St. Louis 45 to 21 cents per 100 lbs. From Louisville and Nashville 40 to 17 cents per 100. The rate from Cincinnati via the O. & M. Ry has been cancelled, but via L. & N. and Henderson or Princeton remain unchanged. Rate from Indianapolis is same as from St. Louis. At time Mr. Schwab was kicking on St. Louis he failed to say that his meat from Indianapolis cost him only 20 cents per 100 lbs; just the same he has to pay for hauling from the river. We have fruit to haul for about two weeks or a month in a year, and the quantity will not justify the cut asked in rates. The railroad is not to blame in the matter, but the whole-sale dealers, who should know how to route shipments via lines running lowest rates.

The N. N. & M. V. cannot stand the division of rates that allows them the same proportion from Louisville as from Princeton or Henderson. I can hardly think that the sensible merchants of Marion will be influenced to their own hurt by those who are using them as the monkey did the cat in the chestnut story. The local rates from Evansville to Princeton, to and from local points, are 50 per cent less than any local rates on any other road in my knowledge. This attack is anything but conservative and unfair, for the reason that no attempt was made to get the other side of the story. As the representative of the R. R. Co., I regret that this matter has been misunderstood, and trust that the editor will give us a show hereafter and not allow us to be roasted in effigy without due notice, as we wish to take part in the performance when it comes off.

Yours truly,
J. E. BRAWNER,
Agt. O. V. Ry.
